October 2012

Serving the Hudson River with Pride for 39 Years

A Message from the Pumpkin Festival Committee

The pumpkin festival is one of the events that really defines the Beacon Sloop Club and Clearwater and has a long tradition in both organizations.

It began as the Clearwater's annual pumpkin sail each fall when the boat would assume a traditional cargo role, transporting farm fresh pumpkins, and stopping at river front communities to raise awareness of the river with festivals and music. There are many of you with fond memories of loading and unloading pumpkins day after day. Beacon and the pumpkin festival was a major stop.

As the ferry sloop fleet was built the smaller boats joined in to make a pumpkin flotilla, sometimes making the whole journey without the aid of a motor.

It's been a few years since there was a 'real' pumpkin sail but the festival has grown and grown to the point where we are moving to Riverfront Park this year. It is the number two fundraiser for the Woody and draws many people to the river for the first time so is very much part of our core mission.

Please come out and support the Sloop Club and the Woody. We need sailors and volunteers of all sorts.

Lost and Found

Friends,

I wonder if anyone (perhaps at the Ramble on Sunday?) saw or heard anything about a ukulele that I accidentally left resting against the Sloop Club building after the meeting last Friday night. After locking up the building I never picked it up.

I'm quasi-confident that if it's not already in a club member's possession that it will turn up somewhere, as it has on the back a painted picture of the Clearwater, Woody and Sojourner Truth and was leaning against the building where the Woody sails happen. On the other hand, maybe someone thought it was a good find and kept it. I don't know. It wasn't until Saturday night that I realized I didn't have it.

If you know anything or have any idea where I should look, please email me at jpmalchow@gmail.com or use my cell, 908 405 1433.

Many thanks,
James Malchow

Make a Difference Day- Oct.27

Make a Difference Day is a national day of service organized by USA Weekend magazine. This year locally IBM, the Poughkeepsie Journal, United Way of Dutchess/Orange, and the Dutchess County Chamber of Commerce have partnered to sponsor volunteer projects.

The Sloop Club has sponsored two projects and asked for volunteers from the community to work with us. We need club members to come out and work with them.

The first is finishing the clubhouse renovation (painting, finish work) and winter prep. Starting at 10am. <http://daytabank.handsonnetwork.org/event/7860#8ff1a7ef61afdeae982baceb5c6d4367>

The second is a joint project with Clearwater cleaning up debris at the University settlement Camp at 9am.

<http://daytabank.handsonnetwork.org/event/7865#c25adc157fd8241155663ff928d22364>

Please come out and help. It's a great chance to work with other volunteers and these projects open up some potential funding opportunities.

Which Has the Largest Greenhouse Gas Footprint: Coal, Oil, or Natural Gas?

By
Manna Jo Greene

While the combustion of all fossil fuels adds to the greenhouse gasses, generally coal is dirtier than oil, which has more emissions than natural gas. Generating electricity from coal produces the largest greenhouse gas footprint, specifically in the form of carbon dioxide, of all the fossil fuel resources in our energy portfolio. In fact, coal-burning is one of the leading causes of global warming. Coal combustion also adds particulates, mercury, and other pollutants into the atmosphere. Acid rain, from sulfur emissions, is almost entirely due to coal burning.

Natural gas is considered to be the cleanest-burning fossil fuel, adding the least amount of carbon dioxide to the atmosphere during combustion. However, when natural gas is extracted by the process of hydraulic fracturing, or "hydrofracking", it introduces another variable: the release of methane – a highly potent greenhouse gas.

Hydrofracking involves the injection of large volumes of water containing sand and a proprietary chemical mixture – including known toxins and carcinogens – into wells at extremely high pressure to fracture shale formations and release and capture tiny bubbles natural gas trapped within. While the debate around hydrofracking has focused on its potential for groundwater contamination and the disposal of waste "fracking fluid", the loss of rogue methane gas is another serious concern. One molecule of methane is more than twenty times more effective at trapping heat in the atmosphere than a molecule of carbon dioxide. Since gas is difficult to contain under the best of circumstances, some methane emissions inevitably leak from the wells, causing a net increase in the overall greenhouse gas footprint from fracking.

A recent Cornell University study entitled, "Methane and the Greenhouse-Gas Footprint of Natural Gas from Shale Formations," found that approximately 3.6 to 7.9% of the methane obtained from this highly-invasive process escapes into the atmosphere from venting and leakage. These rogue methane emissions are thirty percent greater than those caused by conventional natural gas wells, which are vertical and do not entail fracturing. Moreover, this peer-reviewed study affirms that over a twenty-year period, natural gas obtained through deep horizontal hydrofracking has a greenhouse gas footprint 43% greater than conventional natural gas, 50% greater than oil, and 20% greater than coal. Thus natural gas can pose an even greater problem for the maintenance of a stable climatic regime than any other fossil fuel resource when it is obtained through the process of hydrofracking.

Once the infrastructure is in place, fuel-free renewables such as solar, wind, hydroelectric and tidal, and energy conservation and efficiency will essentially produce no greenhouse gasses, which is clearly the wave of the future. Until recently our society has invested over 98% of its research, development, and infrastructure into fossil fuels and nuclear power with less than 2% going to energy efficiency and renewables. If we now reverse that formula and invest in clean, green energy, we can reduce our carbon footprint, create sustainable jobs, strengthen our economy and transform the energy landscape here in the Hudson Valley and beyond.

2012 Clearwater Annual Meeting Kingston Home Port & Education Center Barn Raising

On Saturday, September 15, Clearwater and the Hudson River Maritime Museum partnered for an "Amish-style" timber frame barn-raising of their new maintenance and boat building facility on the Kingston waterfront. It was quite impressive to see the building rise bit by bit throughout the day.

Sloop Club Congress at Annual Meeting 9/15/12

Noon – 12:40, Hudson River Maritime Museum, Kingston, NY during the barn raising.

36 people signed the attendance sheet and stayed for most of the meeting. There was also a fair amount of folks stopping by and moving in and out since we were by the entrance and the food.

We started on time after an opening song by Linda Richards and ended a few minutes early with a closing song by Mel and Vinnie.

There was a short report from each chartered sloop club. The active clubs are North River Friends of Clearwater, Beacon Sloop Club, Riverlovers, New York City Friends of Clearwater, Brooklyn Sloop Club, New Jersey Friends of Clearwater and Walkabout Clearwater Sloop. Linda Richards, Festival volunteer Coordinator/ Events Coordinator/

Power of Song Coordinator is also the go to person for sloop clubs.

The captains, Nick Rogers and Beth Deal spoke. Bill Flank, at large member of the executive board spoke. Sloop clubs, crew, staff and board were well represented.

Manna's gave a short environmental action update. A complete copy is in the files at the cwscc yahoo group.

IP legal – Going to hearing Mid-October and December, 2012; Waste Storage safety contention (SC-4) is on hold while NRC does EIS for on-site waste storage ~ 2 years. No relicenses can be issued until this is resolved, but legal work goes on. We urgently NEED TO RAISE $25,000 in legal fees asap.

Hudson River PCBs – We continue to monitor; dredging is going well this summer. There are still ~136 acres outside dredge area delineation that needs to be dredged – of which about half is in the channel, which NY State Canal Corp. is responsible for dredging. These area were not addressed in EPA's 5-yr. review earlier this summer and the matter remains unresolved. Negotiations are still underway with Canal Corp and the Natural Resource Damage Trustees to find a solution. Our coalition may meet with GE to urge them to allow the Canal Corporation to do navigational dredging while the dewatering facility and related equipment and rail transportation is available – to prevent the additional costs and impacts of going back in after the environmental remediation has been completed.

Energy: The Mid-Hudson Regional Sustainability Plan Energy Working Group has created an ambitious, but entirely implementable, outline of a plan to transition to a Green Energy Economy; a second Energy event planned for mid-Nov. for elected officials.

Rockland Desalination Proposal: United Water's proposed 10 million gpd energy intensive desal plant for Haverstraw Bay needs to be stopped. It will destroy the ecology of this uniquely productive aquatic habitat.

Hydrofracking - See brief article on methane impacts of Hydrofracking on page 4.

Future Proposals:

- Seek Rockefeller funding for Energy work
- Have submitted a Sustainable Energy/Safety project ideas for MHRSP Cleaner, Greener Communities implementation funding proposal.

If you would like to volunteer, hold a house party for Environmental Action work, or otherwise get involved, please contact:

Thank you for caring and for taking action!

A shout out goes to Allan Goldhammer for his work as timekeeper and to everyone who kept the attendance clipboard circulating.

A meeting summary, thank you and invitation to join the cwscc yahoo group went out to all attendees who left an email.
